When Butler lost 57-67 to UAB Blazers to go 10-4 for the season did you predict they would go all of the way to the finals, beating the competition's top two seeds - Syracuse and Kansas - along the way? Not surprisingly. Butler's wonderful run under the leadership of head coach Brad Stevens added to what was the highest rated season of NCAA basketball in a decade. With record Tv ratings and sponsorship at an all time high, the NCAA has in no way been healthier.

For fans of US sports - and US basketball in specific, the month of March is particularly substantial, as it encompasses both the College draft - where NBA franchises compete for the signatures of some of the most talented young basketball players within the world - but mainly because it sees the climax of the NCAA basketball season.
